Dinosaur scavenger hunt · Dinotopia, Madison TN

Find it!

Walk the park and tick each one off as you spot it. No writing needed — point, say it out loud, and move on. Six finds is a whole lesson at this age.

- ☐ A dinosaur taller than your grown-up
- ☐ Something with spikes
- ☐ Something with wings
- ☐ Three things that are green
- ☐ A dinosaur with a very long neck
- ☐ The highest place you climbed today
- ☐ A dinosaur with its mouth wide open
- ☐ Something that feels bumpy

For the grown-up

This covers K.LS1.2 (sorting by observable attributes) and K.LS1.1 (how animals get what they need). Ask "how do you know?" after each find — the reasoning is the lesson, not the checkmark.

Back at home: draw your favorite dinosaur and tell someone one true thing about it.

Find it and write it down

Look closely, then explain your thinking. There are no wrong answers here — there are only answers you can back up.

- ☐ A dinosaur that ate plants
How do you know? _____
- ☐ A dinosaur that ate meat
How do you know? _____
- ☐ Something in here that isn't actually a dinosaur
What is it? _____
- ☐ A body part built for defense
Which one, and how does it work? _____
- ☐ A body part built for speed
Which one, and how does it work? _____
- ☐ One thing you'd want to ask a paleontologist
Write your question: _____

For the grown-up

This covers 3.LS1.1 (structures that support survival), 4.LS4.1 (what a fossil tells us) and 5.LS4.1 (comparing extinct animals to living ones). The last question is the one worth keeping.

Back at home: pick one dinosaur from today and match it to a living animal with the same adaptation. Bird feet, crocodile jaws, turtle shells.
